

AN EMERGENCY GUIDE FROM SIX & THRIVING

READ
NOW

It's 2 AM.

You're done.

Take a breath. You're not alone.
Here's exactly what to do — in the next 60 seconds.

- ◆ The 5 steps that work when nothing else does
- ◆ What to say to yourself before you go in
- ◆ How to recover if you caved tonight

SIX & THRIVING

Mother of Six — Still Here at 3 a.m.

BEFORE YOU DO ANYTHING ELSE — READ THIS

I see you.

I've sat in this chair too. Six times. With six different babies. At every hour from 11 PM to 5 AM. I have whispered the words 'please, just sleep' into the dark more times than I can count.

If you're reading this — your baby is awake. Or just woke. Or hasn't slept in what feels like days.

I want you to know three things, right now, before you do anything:

01

Your baby is safe.

If they were not, you would know. Take this breath.

02

You are not failing.

You're exhausted. There is a difference. A huge one.

03

This is solvable.

Not by morning. But by next week. Trust me.

TURN THE PAGE NOW →

The 5-step protocol. Use it in the next 5 minutes.

THE LIFELINE

Do This Right Now

5 steps. About 3 minutes. Read each one before you act.

1

PAUSE

Don't go in yet. Set a timer for 3 minutes. Many sounds at night are sleep cycling — not actual waking. Wait.

2

BREATHE

Take 3 slow breaths. Your nervous system is dysregulated right now. Your baby will feel it. Reset YOURSELF first.

3

ASSESS

After the timer: Are they crying or just rustling? Has it been less than 5 minutes? Is this distress, or is this cycling?

4

RESPOND TO YOUR PLAN

Use the method you chose BEFORE tonight. Same wait time. Same words. Same approach. If you're winging it — that's the problem.

5

REMEMBER

One bad night doesn't erase progress. Tomorrow is a new night. Your baby will sleep again. So will you.

IF YOUR BABY IS GENUINELY DISTRESSED

Go in. Always. The 5-step protocol is for the rustles, not the screams. You know your baby. Trust that.

ONE MORE THING — IF YOU CAVED TONIGHT

It's okay.

It really, really is.

Maybe you brought baby into your bed. Maybe you nursed back to sleep. Maybe you rocked for an hour. Maybe all three.

Hear me clearly: ONE NIGHT does not undo a week of progress. It just doesn't. You are tired. You are human. You did what your body told you to do at 3 AM.

Tomorrow morning: forgive yourself. Drink the coffee. Read the plan again. Tomorrow night: try again.

Stop winging it at 2 AM.

Get the full plan. The book that lives on your nightstand.

GET THE BOOK → $19

www.sixandthriving.com

Sleep is coming. For both of you.

— Six & Thriving